About Nohe & Sus Santos

[No·he ee Soos San·tows]

Nohe & Sus Santos (Nohe & Her Saints) is a five-piece band mixing Spanish and English vocals with the musical traditions, rhythms and sounds of the Americas, incorporating Alt-Rock en Espanol, Cumbia, Pop grooves, and beyond. They have shared stages with the diverse likes of Ozomatli, Red Pears, Making Movies, and Samantha Fish, delivering a Latinx vibe full of soul, passion, and a good dose of attitude.

Fronted by celebrated Honduran vocalist Nohelia Sosa, the band is rounded out by the extraordinary string wizardry of Randy Sanchez on electric and acoustic guitars and tres, Gilbert Uribe, the band's pulse, on bass, and Dennis Jasso holding it all down with an impeccable groove on the drum kit. Jesse Parker is also on hand to add some magic on congas and additional percussion.¹

Cross Culture

Featuring musicians from Honduras and the US, Nohe & Sus Santos create songs that do much more than simply cross language and cultural borders. The band explores the multicultural experience of the Latinx generation, delivering positive messages of self-identification and respect for their heritage.

Latinx

Latinx is the gender-neutral alternative to Latina or Latino. It is a term used to describe a diverse group of people who have roots in Latin America².

Latinx Heritage Month

Celebrated from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, Latinx Heritage Month is linked to the independence anniversaries of several Latin American nations, and uplifts the cultural legacy of a group deeply-rooted in rich traditions.³ This Heritage month celebrates the cultures, contributions and resilience of Latinx, Hispanic, and Latino-identified communities around the world.
